Welcome to the November issue of the new Queensland Dog World.

Draft Strategic Plan

In this circulation of the Dogs Queensland Magazine there is an inserted copy of the Draft Strategic Plan for all members to view and consider. I strongly urge all members to take this final opportunity to read and comment on this major planning step towards Dogs Queensland's future, as it is of the utmost importance that we get this right. If for any reason you do not receive a copy of this draft in your edition please contact the office or check the Dogs Queensland website for your copy. All comments will be reviewed and taken into consideration.

Clubs

The Dogs Queensland Affiliated Clubs have listened to all the exhibitors regarding their opinions on using local or interstate judges at their shows, unfortunately it has caused many clubs financial losses that they can ill afford.

Many clubs have brought in International Judges in the hope that exhibitors will support their shows, this has not occurred and clubs are left wondering as to how and what do they do to pick up the entries needed for the Clubs to survive.

At the end of the day if exhibitors do not support the Local shows, then there will be less and less local shows, which means you will have to travel further at a lot larger financial cost to go to shows. There seems to be a lot of members out there that have nothing but negative comments towards clubs and shows but never want to contribute in anyway to help. If support is not given to local clubs and shows, you will lose them because there will be no financial clubs left with nobody to run them.

How about instead of knocking them helping them, so that all of you and our youngsters can enjoy this fabulous sport of ours, for years to come. Also, I remind all clubs to ensure that they treat all judges with courtesy and decorum during their stay, we have had some disturbing news regarding online postings and treatment of some judges of late. I am sure that we all like to be treated fairly when we travel, so give them the same courtesy.

New Year Shows

Many exhibitors have asked for the New Years shows to come back; well, Lockyer Valley Kennel Club has taken up the gauntlet and are running a New Year's Eve and a New Year's Day show at Durack this year.

Let's just hope that all those who have requested the revival of these shows support them this year, so that it can be an ongoing consideration for clubs to apply for this timeslot.

On a Positive Note

Firstly, the Open Show Spectacular was a great success, mainly to the efforts of Carolyn Pearen who pulled this all together. The larger amount of entrants this year did make a very big difference to those trainee judges who took part, so on their behalf I thank you all. Despite the hard yards that Carolyn had to put in to get sponsorship and donations, I am sure that we will see her doing it all over again next year as she is also very aware of how worthwhile this is not only to the trainees, but as a big Thank You to all exhibitors who take the time to enter the Open Shows.

DOY/POTY Finals

I am more than happy to say that all who bought tickets in the DOTY Dinner thoroughly enjoyed the cuisine this year. A Big Congratulations to all who took part and to the winners of this year's finals. The amount of entrants this year again was larger than last year. Yes, there is always room for improvement, but the fact that the numbers are increasing definitely shows encouragement for the future. Congratulations to Mr. T. Thomas (Chair) and his hard working committee for a job well done, not only for the Finals but for all the fundraising your committee did to ensure that the DOTY/POTY finals would be presented in the right manner. Yes members, for those of you who did not know, the DOTY/POTY do have to fundraise very hard each year to ensure that there is a DOTY/POTY final event. In fact quite a few of Dogs Queensland's Committees have to work very hard to raise funds for their endeavours, be it the Grounds Committee, the Magazine, PR and Media Committee or our Dog of the Year Committee, etc.

ANKC News

Polish Lowland Sheepdog

As a result of recent advice received from the Kennel Club (UK), the breed standard for the Polish Lowland Sheepdog on the ANKC Ltd website will be amended as follows:

Coat (currently reads): Dense shaggy thick coat of harsh texture with soft undercoat. Slight wave permissible. No loose skin anywhere on body.

Amended to read:

Coat Whole body covered with long dense, shaggy thick coat of harsh texture with soft undercoat, but never impeding the dog's movement/action. Long/profuse hair on head, falling forward over the eyes in a characteristic manner, but not impeding the dog's vision. Slight wave permissible. No loose skin anywhere on body. No evidence of coat trimming to enhance or change the natural outline of the dog.

2020 National Agility Trials

The ANKC wishes to advise the approval of the 2020 National Agility Trials application received from Dogs West to be held from 26th May to 31st May 2020 at Dogs West Showgrounds, Southern River, WA.

2017 Weimaraner National Show

The ANKC wishes to advise the approval of the 2017 National Show and Restricted Obedience Trial, Restricted Rally Obedience Trial and Restricted Retrieving Ability Test for Gundogs application received from the Weimaraner Club of Victoria via DOGS VICTORIA to be held on 12 to 14 May 2017 at KCC Park, Cranbourne, Victoria.

Papillon Breed Standard Extension (BSE)

The ANKC Ltd and Dogs Queensland website has been updated with the BSE for the Papillon.

Amendment to Regulations Part 6 Clause 6.2.4

Please that the regulations have been updated and are available from the ANKC website at: <http://www.ankc.org.au/Regulations-1.aspx>

Decisions as a result of the 2014 PST meeting

1. Junior Handlers

Item:

'On at least three occasions in the last few months when Junior Handlers are called in the meal break, there has been announcements made by the show manager calling for stewards and stating that unless stewards volunteered the handler classes would not be held.

Apart from the fact that this displays a very poor image for our Juniors, shouldn't the responsible club and/or show manager have these positions filled well before the meal break?'

Decision:

It was agreed that all Junior Handler Judges would be contracted for all Shows advertised after 1st January 2015 and that the Judge would be noted on the Schedule and published in the Catalogue.

2. Scheduling of Dinner Breaks, Meal Breaks and General Scheduling of Shows

Decision:

It was agreed that Clubs needed to be mindful when scheduling meal breaks in regards to not inconveniencing Exhibitors. It was further noted that when an Open Show and a Championship Show were scheduled to run together, the Open Show was to have no General Specials.

3. Deposit held by Dogs Queensland from Clubs using kitchen

Item:

'Recently Dogs Queensland introduced a system whereby a club

using the kitchen/dining room facilities must pay a $100 deposit which will be withheld if the premises are not left in a clean and tidy manner.

If a club arrives at 6am and finds the premises unclean, what do they do? understanding that they are there at that time, as is needed, to provide meals in a very short time afterwards?

In these circumstances the club should at least receive the $100 bond as they will be cleaning up the previous users mess.

In the off chance that this set of circumstances occurs, all cleaning materials required should be held in a place to which the club has ready access.

Some clubs use the BBQ facilities on the ground floor. As they are responsible for its final cleanliness they require that it be in a clean state when they commence usage. Dogs Queensland employed staff should ascertain that this area is clean before it is needed.

Would Dogs Queensland advise how the responsibilities are levied when several bodies use different parts of the premises at the same time?

Decision:

As a Trial from 1st January 2015, one Club only would be able to book the Canteen and the BBQ Area. It is also vital that the Grounds Manager checked that all the relevant usage forms were completed before and after in reference to any visits or inspections from Brisbane City Council and reimbursement of Bonds.

4. The issue of Contracts for Stewards and Writers not being issued by Clubs

Decision:

It was noted that contracts were mandatory.

Queensland Dog Sports Club's Presidents, Secretaries and Treasurers meeting

Any and all Agenda Items are to be received in the Office no later than close of business on Friday the 28th November 2014.

Junior handler contracts

Please note that Contracts are to be issued by clubs for both Junior Handler Judges and Junior Handler Competition Stewards.

RULE 194

Judges are required to advise the Secretary of the CCC(Q) in writing of all appointments, including interstate and overseas appointments. This information is to be submitted after acceptance of the contract by the Club and not later than 28 days after signature by the judge.

RULE 217 (b)

All judges and clubs are asked to take note of the following Rule change:

Existing:

'During group judging, the judge is not permitted to pull out a number of dogs for further consideration and excuse the others from the ring.'

New Rule:

'During group judging, the judge has the discretion to pull out a number of dogs for further consideration and excuse the others from the ring. Where limited shade is available, or where the day is quite hot, the judge should be encouraged to pull those dogs he or she is considering for the group/class, and excuse all other exhibits.'

IN LOVING MEMORY

Noel Boddy (Arrunga Kennels)

1933 - 2014

Noel was born in Brisbane on the 14th of September, 1933 and loved most of his eighty years in the Bayside suburbs of Wynnum and Manly, with Ransome being the long-time home of Arrunga Kennels. Noel's foray into the dog world began with a Scotch Collie, Dallas Prince Glen, in 1952. Glen had limited showing but won a 1st and 3rd ribbon at the 1953 Brisbane RNA Show.

In 1962, Noel bought his first Cocker Spaniel and went on to build up his show and breeding stock over many years, culminating with the importation in the 1970s of a gold dog and a black bitch from Sorbrook Kennels owned by the late Jean and John Smith in England. Noel's Cocker Spaniels were well respected in the show ring and the bloodlines of many of his stock continue on in today's champions. Noel also had an interest in Chihuahuas as a second breed. Most of his stock originated from Rozavel Kennels owned by the late Thelma Gray.

With a keen eye for quality, Noel was encouraged to undertake judge's training, and he went on to become an All Breeds Judge and a member of the Judges Board. He was a member of the Canine Control Council of Queensland for fifty-two years and Patron of the Cocker Spaniel Club of Queensland for many years. As age limited his ability to care for the dogs, his kennel gradually dwindled, and his last Cocker died four weeks to the day before Noel passed away.

Many friends from the dog world attended Noel's funeral on the 28th of July. His family would like to thank those who attended and all who sent floral tributes, cards and or messages of support and sympathy.

Veronica (Vonnice) Boddy and family

After struggling with a severe lung condition our good friend Noel Boddy passed away on the 19th of July 2014. He would have been proud to see the crowd that assembled for his service which was a testament to the many friends he accumulated during his lifetime.

Noel was a quiet gentleman with a cheeky humour, with which he often broke into fits of laughter. He was also a man who did not speak evil of any one.

Noel in his teens had a love for dancing and when he met his wife Vonnice she had to take up the interest as well to enable them to spend time together, as his hobby consumed many hours per week. Three children completed their family, and grandchildren have since arrived to increase the clan numbers. Daughter Julie was the only sibling to take up the sport of Dog Showing.

Noel's first Cocker Spaniel was an unregistered bitch which was destined to be put down as a home had not been found for her. Soft hearted Noel arrived home with her and within weeks her litter of puppies had arrived! Not long later, a pure breed Collie was purchased, and his showing of dogs commenced.

Noel and Vonnice's 'Arrunga' Cockers commenced later and quickly made its mark in the show ring with many champions being made up. All colours were bred and exhibited, but solid coloured Cockers were to remain to the end.

Two English imports came to Arrunga from Jean Smith's famous 'Sorbrook' kennels, and from those, many winners were campaigned. Vonnice travelled to the UK to visit Jean, but Noel never took to flying and stayed at home with the dogs. Ch. Arrunga Artisan and Ch. Arrunga Abrade were two dogs remembered not only for their wins but for the winners they produced.

Finally, Noel decided he would like to judge gun dogs and once that was achieved he went on to become a popular All Breeds judge. In recent years, he became a member of the Judges Sub-committee. He was a life member of the Queensland Cocker Club and was a long serving President/Secretary and Treasurer of the club.

During the funeral service, his son mentioned Noel's charity work which he never spoke about to his friends. His donations to many Vietnamese refugees to enable them to start a new life in Australia after the Vietnam war was news to us. Many of the people he helped were at the service, and they spoke of him as Papa Noel.

His donations continued with the recent refugees into Australia receiving his assistance. This man was a devout Catholic and a true Christian.

The dog world will miss this gentleman

What a wonderful world!

It's so nice to have some positive feedback and equally as nice to see that our efforts are rewarded with a positive outcome.

The monies raised at our recent All Dogs Sports Spectacular on the 25th of August, were immediately put to use for the intended purpose.

The first visit to Ronald McDonald House by a Dogs Queensland sponsored Delta dog is happening. On the 20th of October, Cooper with his owner Julie Northage visited Ronald McDonald House at Herston.

As this is the very first visit, it is important that the families, children and Cooper get to know one another.

Well done everyone who was involved and helped in raising funds to make sure that this happened. We will keep you updated on any progress.

Julie and Cooper the Standard Poodle

Draft strategic plan final opportunity!

Hundreds of people have already had their early say on the challenges and priorities for Dogs Queensland and our strategic plan.

By now you should have seen the draft strategic plan as emailed to all members and as posted on the website. It has sought to represent the views of members and, in particular, those priorities seen to be either 'very urgent' or 'extremely urgent' by those who attended regional planning workshops or who took part in the survey held at the EKKA.

Those very urgent and extremely urgent priorities were:

- Partnerships – with government, sponsors, other organisations
- Breeding – quality and management
- Promotions – to members and the public
- Infrastructure – and office location of Dogs Queensland
- Judging – accreditation and consistency
- Governance – and the way we act with each other
- Administration – and online capability
- Education – of members, public, judges and all involved

Why not have a look at the draft plan and see if these priorities have been represented appropriately?

Final responses to the plan are due by the 10th of November, so that we can finalise the plan before year end.

Many thanks to the hundreds of members who have contributed by either participating in regional workshops, sending emails, responding to the EKKA survey or by calling me. Thanks also to the board, strategic planning committee and Dogs Queensland staff for their energetic involvement and vision.

With so much wisdom and insight coming from so many people we are bound to not only set up a great strategy for the future but also have plenty of people who are committed to implementing it.

An introduction to varieties of the Belgian Shepherd Dog and its origins

Dogs Queensland Exclusive

Feature breed written by Jody Hafey and Kathryn Winton

There are four varieties of Belgian Shepherd Dog, but the main differences between them is their coat colour and its length. Each has been named after the area which was instrumental to its development:

- The Groenendael featuring a long black coat from the village of Groenendael, south east of Brussels
- The Tervueren displaying a long fawn or grey coat from the small village of Tervuren within Brussels
- The Malinois featuring a short fawn coat from the city of Malines, situated between Brussels and Antwerp
- The Laekenois showing a wire fawn coat from Laeken, a suburb of Brussels

The origins of today's Belgian Shepherd Dog takes us back to six foundation dogs, 'Vos I' and 'Lise', a pale rough coated dog and a brindle short coated bitch.

'Vos I' (Vos de Laeken) was a pale, fawn, rough haired dog, purchased by Adrien Janssens in 1855. Mr Janssens was a shepherd from the suburb of Laeken. Vos I was bred to 'Lise' (Lise de Laeken) who was a short haired brindle brown bitch. Vos I was used over several of his descendants and produced a good foundation not only for the Belgian Shepherd Dogs of today, but the Dutch Shepherd and the Bouvier des Flandres (this line was noted for its homogeneity of type in both grey and fawn, rough and short haired dogs).

Other descendants of Vos I were also used as foundation dogs for various kennels. 'Diane', a brindle-grey short coat, was mated with 'Samlo', a brindle-fawn dog and together they produced 'Tomy LOB 138'.

Tomy was an exceptional guard dog, described visually to possess a 'fawn short coat with black overlay, ideal confirmation and an explicit black mask'. Tomy was used to sire many litters and, in the city of Malines in November 1899, the year 'Tjop LOSH 6132' was born. Tjop became the first Malinois champion in Belgium and possibly the most influential Malinois sire of the early twentieth century.

Two long coated blacks: Picard d'Uccle and Petite

'Picard d'Uccle' and 'Petite' were both long haired black dogs owned by Nicolas Rose. Mr Rose owned the restaurant and café Chateau de Groenendael, south-east of Brussels. Their first known litter was born in 1893, which produced a dog by the name of 'Duc de Groenendael'. Duc was used over the fawn long coated 'Miss' and, in 1896, produced the first Tervueren champion, 'Milsart'.

Picard d'uccle and Duc de Groenendael - Drawing by A. Clarys (1896)

Two long coated fawns: Tom and Poes

'Tom' and 'Poes' were owned by Mr M. Corbeel who was a brewer from the town of Tervuren. Mr Corbeel is the oldest known breeder of the long coated blackened fawn dogs.

In approximately 1895, Mr Corbeel bred his two long coated blackened fawn dogs and they produced the bitch 'Miss'. Miss, as stated previously, was bred to Duc de Groenendael to produce Milsart and also to Piccard d'Uccle. From this mating came Dax, the first Groenendael champion in Belgium.

From that point, a rare breed was established with an appealing physical appearance, which was both intelligent and elegant with a personality found in no other breed. The fame of this breed grew over time and it became popular with foreigners, especially the French and the Americans. Throughout the early years of the twentieth century, the place names of the towns and villages were being used to describe the different varieties of Belgian Shepherd Dogs. This was a way of honouring the kennels in Belgium who were most closely associated with the varieties.

Mr Louis Huyghebaert, from the Heide kennel, a judge and author, was instrumental in the early breeding of the Malinois and the Bouvier. He led a club based in the city of Malines which helped promote and make popular the Malinois, the short coated fawn variety. As Nicolas Rose's kennel was named after his restaurant and café Chateau de Groenendael, it only seemed fitting this long coated black variety was called Groenendael.

The rough coated fawn variety, the Laekenois, was named after Adrian Janssen's kennel, based in Laeken and the long coated fawns and greys were named after Tervueren in honour of Mr Corbeel and his kennels.

A brief history of the working breed

In the late 1800s the Belgian Shepherd Dog was used as a 'moveable fence', moving flocks of sheep and herds of cattle from one pasture to another while protecting the stock as it grazed.

In 1897, dressage trials were developed to assess the three main characteristics a shepherding dog should possess: intelligence, obedience and loyalty. These trials used individual exercises, testing the dogs' ability to leap over high and long obstacles as well as swimming.

They were then combined with protection and they evolved into the field trials known as Belgian Ring Sport.

The first trial was held in 1903 in Malines and was won by M. van Opdebeek and his Malinois, 'Cora van't Optewel'. Cora was the dam of 'CH. Tjop LOSH 6132'.

Police dog trials became very popular in Europe prior to the first world war. Belgian Shepherd Dog owners and trainers were very active within these trials and over four consecutive years, the Groenendael, 'Jules de Moulin' and his trainer M. Tedesco won the World Champion Title.

In 1899, a police dog unit was set up in the city of Ghent. They started with three dogs as a trial and was so successful that they increased the number to ten before the year was up. They found them to be an impressive and formidable weapon. Other cities also set up police dog departments, but in the end only the city of Brussels department persevered for around twenty years.

During World War One (between 1914 through to 1918) the Belgian Shepherd Dog was used as a messenger dog, Red Cross dog, ambulance cart dog and light machine-gun cart dog.

Field trials continued throughout the years with the introduction of tracking and Belgian Shepherds Dogs continued to excel within these trials. The breed continues to be of use today with the RAAF Air Force and police services using Belgian Malinois as reliable service dogs.

The breed in Australia today

The first Belgian Shepherd Dogs were imported to Australia in 1974. The breed is widely known today for being excellent family dogs, with a natural affinity for children. They are very loyal and loving, they display exemplary levels of willingness to please and their high intelligence makes them a breeze to train.

They are the dog of choice for overseas dog sports such as obedience, agility and other disciplines. Sadly, in Australia, the major stakeholders of the breed are not active in dog sports so there are limited examples of the breed being campaigned and thus, keeping the breeds' superior working abilities secret to those in the know.

In Australia today we see Belgian Shepherd Dogs competing at top levels of Obedience, Agility, Herding, Dancing with Dogs, Jumping and other disciplines. Many owners, however, like to keep their faithful dogs at home just as beloved family pets. This breed's non-smell coat, and seasonal coat shedding lends itself to a dog being allowed to stay indoors with their family rather than relegated to the back yard. The breed also thrives on human contact.

The breed in Australia is considered to be very healthy, with a naturally structured square body shape with a good history of ethical breeders that have upheld health testing practices of all breeding stock for many generations of dogs.

This means that hip and elbow health across the gene pools is considerably better on average than many other breeds, and will continue as healthy as long as breeders of today and in the future maintain vigilant health testing regimes. Eye tests are undertaken by the most ethical breeders for their breeding stock, with yearly examinations necessary to confirm eye health in the breeding gene pool.

There are no other tests or DNA checks currently available for any other conditions at this time. Epilepsy is the biggest problem that could potentially be alleviated by scientific discoveries enabling DNA testing of breeding stock. Belgian Shepherd Dog breeders continue to live in hope of DNA tests for this.

The Irish Setter

The origin of the Irish Setter is not known, although it is believed that it evolved from a combination of land spaniels. These were imported to Ireland from Spain when the Spaniards helped the Irish in their rebellion against the British.

It should be noted that this breed (that was established as early as 1800) was not originally a solid colour but a combination of red and white. Through selective breeding, the rich mahogany red colour we know today was derived.

Irish Setters were originally used to 'set' game, hence the name 'setters'. The breed found upland birds and crouched down close to their find so that the hunter could come and throw a net over dogs and birds.

When firearms were introduced, this practice was discontinued, as the hunter wanted a dog that pointed, flushed game and hunted with an upright stance. Today, Irish Setters, with their keen noses and independent spirits, are still the choice of many sportsmen who enjoy going afield with a good bird dog.

Average size, weight and lifespan

Dogs: Maximum of 69 cm (27 inches) in height
Bitches: Maximum of 66 cm (26 inches) in height
Weight: 24 to 32 kg
Lifespan: 11 to 12 years of age (approxment)

Ideal owners:

An active dog, the Irish Setter requires a certain amount of daily exercise and attention to grooming.

Care requirements:

Remember that this breed has a high energy level and requires regular exercise. It is essential that an Irish Setter be regularly groomed. The coat should be brushed to keep it free of dirt, burrs, snarls and malts.

Brushing also stimulates the production of natural oils, giving the coat that beautiful characteristic mahogany gloss. Care of feet, eyes, and ears is also important, especially after a vigorous romp in the park or field.

An Irish Setter puppy requires love and firm, intelligent training. It must be persuaded to obey but never forced or abused. It must also be provided a safe, enclosed area for daily exercise or exercised on a leash at regular intervals throughout the day.

Breed personality, characteristics and temperament:

The Irish Setter is an independent but sweet natured dog with a rollicking personality and makes a wonderful, loving companion. Shyness, hostility or timidity are uncharacteristic of this beautiful breed, which is best-known for its outgoing, stable temperament and strong hunting instinct.

In conclusion:

Now you know a little about the Irish Setter. If you have decided this is the dog for you, or if you would like more information, please contact either the relevant registered breeders club or Dogs Queensland.

Either will be able to give you information about available puppies and also suggest dog shows where you can see the breed and speak to breeders.

Belgian Shepherd Dog Club of Qld Inc
Written by Kathryn Winton

Founded in 1990 by a handful of Belgian Shepherd Dog enthusiasts, the Belgian Shepherd Dog Club of Qld Inc has grown from strength to strength.

In the beginning, a group of like-minded Belgian Shepherd Dog enthusiasts sat down with pen and paper and a list of names and addresses provided by the Canine Control Council of Queensland (Dogs Queensland pre-privacy law days).

Letters were hand written (this was before the use of personal computers or desktop printers) to owners of each and every Belgian Shepherd Dog registered in Queensland, as well as interstate. The letters called for expressions of interest in establishing a 'Belgian breed club'. Sufficient to say positive responses came in, and a committee was formed along with official recognition of the Social Club being granted by the CCC(Q).

The next step was to upgrade from Social Club status to becoming officially affiliated with the CCC(Q). Affiliation was granted in April 2000 and was closely followed by the club's first Specialty Open Show held in March 2001 and its first Specialty Championship Show in June 2001 utilising local judges.

Fund Raising and persistence paid off with the appointment of the club's first International Specialist Judge in 2004 and the club continues to appoint International Specialist Judges at each Specialty Championship Show to draw maximum entries from interstate.

The original goals of the founders of the club are still upheld to this day.

The BSDCQ aims to provide information and education regarding the general health and betterment of the breed to those who own or are interested in obtaining a Belgian Shepherd Dog. The club also aims to promote the breed to the general public, to encourage responsible dog ownership and to uphold the breed standard.

There has always been a strong stance for members to only breed from health tested stock, making the BSDCQ the pioneer of ethical practices now adopted by other Belgian Shepherd Dog clubs in Australia.

The BSDCQ welcomes all Belgian Shepherd Dog fanciers and owners, local and worldwide, to be members. The BSDCQ offers its members:

- Bimonthly e-newsletters 'The Belgian Bulletin'
- Bimonthly committee meetings via skype and general meetings when needed
- Fundays as often as we can!
- Health register information (hip scores, elbow scores and eye testing results) viewable to members, breeders and the general public
- Belgian Shepherd Dog Specialty Open Shows held in March each year
- Belgian Shepherd Dog Specialty Championship Shows held in June each year
- The hosting of two Herding Trials per year (back to back trials in April each year)
- Belgian Shepherd Dog rescue services (finding homes for pedigree Belgian Shepherd Dogs in need Australia wide)
- Publisher affiliation of the Belgian Shepherd Year Books editions

1994, 1999, 2004 and 2010 (copies of these historical works are available for sale through the club secretary with next issue due late 2014/early 2015 – collectors' items!)

- Publisher affiliation of the Qld Critique book – colour photos and critiques (includes the judges' comments of each dog exhibited at our Specialty Champ Shows printed annually since 2009 – collectors' item!)

The BSDCQ is a great source of information for sourcing, training, raising, grooming, showing, herding, trialling, owning and simply loving a Belgian Shepherd Dog!

At times, it has been a struggle to keep the club afloat. There have been challenges such as low membership numbers, debts exceeding bank balances, times of political turmoil and a lack of workers despite a large membership base.

The club has, however, been lucky enough to have folk step forward when times get tough, pick the club up, shake it up, fund raise to fix an ailing bank balance, liven up club activities and re-engage in public promotion of our breed and hope for an influx of new members with fresh ideas as to how we can move forward towards the future. Thus, the club continues and is now at the forefront of the Belgian Shepherd Dog breed promotion in Australia.

Breed promotion to the public (historical and current):

- Brisbane Royal EKKa breed info stall
- Pet Expo breed info stall

- Gold Coast breed info stall
- RSPCA Brisbane and Townsville Big Adopt Out breed info stall
- Fundays at prominent parklands for exposure to the public
- Local newspaper inclusions
- Club web page
- Club Facebook page
- Club t-shirts

If you own a Belgian Shepherd Dog or are interested in the breed, please consider joining our club.

We are a friendly bunch of people, with a common desire for the betterment of the Belgian breed. We invite new members to join us, or to contact us for information about our breed.

To complement this month's breeds, we are fortunate to have several great titles on both the Belgian Shepherd Dog and the Irish Setter.

The two featured breeds this month could not be more different, Belgian Shepherd Dogs from the working group and Irish Setters from the Gundog group.

The Library holds a volume of books and information on both breeds. I have selected two books on the Belgian Shepherd Dog which I feel cover the whole of the breed (including the Groenendael, Laekenois, Malinois and Tervueren) 'The Belgian Sheepdog' and 'The Complete Belgian Shepherd Dog'.

In 'The Complete Belgian Shepherd Dog' the author, Deborah Fleming, traces the origin of the breed and gives advice on choosing a puppy and the care required for both puppies and adult dogs. The versatility of the dog is well covered in one particular chapter. In 'Irish Setters Today', the author, Eve Gardner, also traces the origin of the breed, its adoption as a show dog and the role of the Irish Setter as a working Gundog. The title is a great book full of lots of colour photos and information.

Another book of interest is 'The Irish Red and White Setter' by Patricia Brigden, who has been closely involved with the development of the Irish Red and White Setter since its introduction into England in 1980.

The Library has also recently purchased books on hairless dogs that are now making an impact in the show arena. These include the Xoloitzcuintle, 'Hairless Dogs, The Naked Truth' and 'Hairless Dogs, a Complete Anthology of the Breeds'. Both of these books are available to be borrowed.

Visiting the Library

Should anyone wish to use the Library at any time, please contact myself (Helen) on 0407 961 025. I would be happy to arrange a suitable time.

Please come and visit, you would be most welcome!

'The Belgian Shepherd Dog 125 Years of Illustrated History'

Library and Archives Committee

'The Belgian Shepherd Dog 125 Years of Illustrated History' was published this year and has been donated to the Dogs Queensland Library by the Belgian Shepherd Club of Queensland.

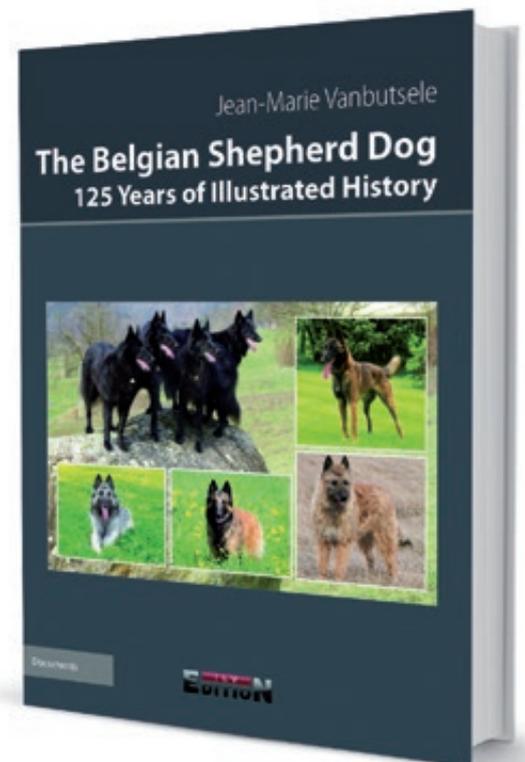

What a fantastic book! Written by Jean-Mare Vanbutsele, this title is dedicated to the history of the Belgian Shepherd Dog and is the result of extensive research.

This title highlights and honours individuals who have contributed to the birth and growth of different varieties of the breed.

With over 200 illustrations including photographs, paintings, drawings, posters and medals, this book should be a reference source for all enthusiasts of the breed.

What more can I say? This book is available in the Library.

Welcome once again!

Zone 3 shows kicked off again after the EKKA period with the Tully and District Kennel Club hosting a double header with an international panel of judges from Hungary and India.

A first for the Tully Club but a very successful weekend with one of the biggest entries we've seen in North Queensland in quite a while.

The Toy Dog Club of North Queensland also joined in the fun and held two Championship Shows in conjunction with the Tully Club. All in all, a great weekend which I know the Tully Committee are keen to continue in the future.

Now that the shows at the Tully Showgrounds have finished for 2014, the club are jumping right into fundraising mode. They are looking to replace the old timber assembly which gave way during heavy rain in May, with a more permanent structure. Initial thoughts are that it will cost in the vicinity of ten thousand dollars, but further plans and quotes will provide a more accurate estimate.

Many may be aware that the Cassowary Coast Regional Council have approved the installation of permanent lighting for the rings, and although initially expected prior to the 2014 show season, it was discovered that an upgrade to the electrical mains is needed prior to the installation of lights.

Fingers crossed this is not too far away, and the lights will be up and ready for the 2015 season.

Thuringowa City Kennel Club also hosted their final shows for the year at the end of August. With the Woodstock grounds no longer being used this year, a little birdie informed me that through the combined efforts of the Townsville Kennel Association and Thuringowa City Kennel Club, there will be some earthworks commencing to create a third ring.

Certainly a great idea with more and more clubs working together and sharing grounds and show weekends. It is my understanding that Easter weekend next year will be five shows in the one weekend, kudos to the clubs involved for putting that one together.

Shows coming up are Ingham Kennel and Obedience Club and the North Queensland Spring Spectacular hosted by the Amenities Committee with both weekends being held at the Ingham Showgrounds. The Ingham Club recently got their assembly area awning extended negating the need for tarps that have been used on the front half of the assembly in years gone by.

Zone 3 Showcase

The Queensland Dog World

I am not sure of the full details as yet but have been told that further improvements to the grounds will be forthcoming over the next year or two.

There are still a couple of shows to be held on the Cairns grounds in October before the end of the 2014 season and there has been questions about when Innisfail Kennel Club are planning on re-scheduling their shows that were postponed due to the cyclone earlier this year.

With the end of the 2014 show season fast approaching, most North Queensland exhibitors will be taking a well-earned break, but club committees will still be hard at work preparing for the 2015 season. With the constant shortage of workers with all clubs, I am going to take it upon myself to put a call out to anyone willing and able to assist with working bees, fundraising or anything else needed by their local clubs, to please contact the committees and volunteer.

Shows are run for the benefit of each and every exhibitor and with your help they can only get bigger and better for next year. A special thanks to Jacqui (Kayani) for the photos in this month's column.

Achieving the Belgian Shepherd Breed Standard

Dogs Queensland Exclusive

Written by Jody Hafey and Kathryn Winton

In the early 1800s, native shepherd dogs were a mixture of coat lengths, colours and types. These dogs were bred for their natural instincts towards guarding, herding abilities and loyalty towards their owners.

The most intelligent and courageous were used as breeding stock and in Belgium a dog of unusual beauty with intelligence, grace, courage and the ability to withstand the weather conditions emerged. This dog was the Belgian Shepherd Dog.

During the mid-nineteenth century, the need for herding dogs declined and, as a result, these animals were used to protect fields of grain, businesses, homes and farms. Around the same time, after recognising the intelligence and agility of these dogs, the breed was also introduced to Field and Obedience Trials as well as police work. The Belgian Shepherd Dog was first introduced to police work in 1896 in the city of Ghent. By 1899, Ghent had an established a police dog department consisting of three Belgian Shepherd Dogs. This police dog service was known to be the finest in existence.

In 1891, a club, the Club du Chien de Berger Belge (The Belgian Shepherd Dog Club), was formed to determine whether there was a true shepherd dog, representative of only Belgium. A panel of judges, led by Professor Adolphe Reul determined there was a native shepherd dog of consistent type, distinct to the Brabant province.

This dog was of medium size and square, with well-set triangular ears and very dark eyes. However, there were differences in colour, texture and length of coat. Similar exhibitions were held throughout other provinces in Belgium, with similar findings.

Under the direction of professor Reul, the first breed standard for the Belgian Shepherd was issued in 1892. This was modelled on the English Collie standard of the time, and they recognised three varieties of Belgian Shepherd Dog. The long-coated blacks and fawns, the short-coated fawn and the rough-coated greys and fawns.

This breed standard was changed several times, first in 1898 eliminating fawn rough coats and again in 1899, only allowing long coated blacks and fawn short-coated with black masking.

The Royale Saint-Hubert (Belgium's equivalent to the AKC) was petitioned for breed status in 1892 but was denied. In 1898, the Berger Belge Club took over the guidance of the breed and re-introduced the fawn colour in both long and rough coated varieties. It was during a period between 1892 through to 1901 that the Royale Saint-Hubert recognised the Belgian Shepherd Dog as a breed and that efforts were concentrated on developing a breed type along with different varieties.

Over the years, there have been many heated discussions over the interpretation of the breed standard regarding coat colours and coat texture. The breed standard seems to be continually changing and evolving with previously unacceptable colours and textures becoming accepted, and then with a change of guard, relegated to being unaccepted again.

Despite ongoing turmoil about coat colour within the breed, colour phobia has been put aside by the most astute breeders, enabling a keen focus on breed type, health and character, as more important breeding selection criteria than merely colour.

A guide to buying a Belgian Shepherd Dog

Dogs Queensland Exclusive

Written by Kathryn Winton

The sheepdog from Belgium, with official recognition in 1891, pre-dates German Shepherds being an officially recognised breed. Belgian Shepherds Dogs from Belgium (known as Belgians, not Belgiums).

Four varieties equal one breed:

- Groenendael
- Laekenois
- Malinois
- Tervueren

Belgian Shepherd Dogs are a medium to large sized dog (around 18kg for small females and up to 25kg for large males) that are adaptable family companions that can also excel at competitive showing, obedience, herding, agility and other fun dog sports. Belgians are loyal, loving family members and thrive on being with their families, with a natural affinity for children.

Belgians come in four different varieties, which according to the breed standard, are all exactly the same except for coat colour and texture. The Groenendael is long coated black. The Tervueren is long coat fawn to grey with black face mask. The Malinois is a short coated fawn with black face mask.

Rarest of all is the Laekenois with a curly rough fawn coat. Temperaments should be similar in all four varieties, varying with family bloodline traits rather than variety, or whether male or female. Coats on all four varieties are double coated and consist of a woolly undercoat with longer guard hairs. The Groenendael and Tervueren are considered low maintenance for long coated dogs and they shed seasonally, rather than moulting all year round.

Malinois can shed all year round, with a bigger drop coming into summer. Laekenois need plucking or stripping of dead hairs out to shed coat (a little more maintenance than the other varieties).

All in all, this breed is very much a wash and wear breed, with a desirable 'No Smell' coat, sought after by many asthma sufferers. A quick brush through right to the skin once a week is generally sufficient grooming, with extra attention at moulting time.

This breed is an active breed and enjoys regular exercise. Puppy pre-school and beginners companion dog training classes are highly recommended. A well-bred Belgian should grow to a well-adjusted adult with lots of positive socialising ongoing throughout their lives. A fully fenced dog proof house and yard is essential for housing your dog safely and is a legal requirement in most states of Australia for dog ownership.

The breed is initially noticed because of its beauty. It is noted to be one of the healthiest breeds of dogs with considerably fewer health issues than other pedigree breeds and cross bred dogs.

Epilepsy occurs in some lines and this health issue is to be considered when selecting your new family member. Currently, there is no DNA test available to determine epileptic status, so breeders have to choose wisely, relying on anecdotal reporting of epilepsy in bloodlines to determine the safest breeding.

Very rarely does hip and elbow dysplasia occur, and ethical breeders have been health testing all potential breeding stock to assist with the reduction of these issues. Eye testing should be undertaken yearly on all breeding stock.

Cataracts and other eye issues are not a major problem, and ethical breeders intend to keep it that way by always health testing prior to breeding. The Belgian Shepherd Dog Club of Qld fully endorses health testing of all breeding stock, and is happy to advise on how to read health certificates that should be supplied by breeders to prospective new owners.

Before buying a Belgian Shepherd Dog

Before making a commitment, you should visit several Belgian Shepherd Dog breeders to see how they care for their dogs before choosing the breeder of your new family companion. Both genetics and environment play an important role in shaping temperament.

Why not attend a Belgian Speciality show day or club Fun day to see a wide range of owners and the style and type of Belgians that they each choose to show and breed? As with all living creatures, there can be significant diversity in breed types between bloodlines, and different traits will appeal to different folk. The Belgian Shepherd Dog Club of Qld will be happy to put you in touch with member breeders of Belgians in your area.

What do you require of your dog?

Companionship. Both male and females of each of the four varieties of Belgians make excellent family companions. Choose from fully health tested breeding stock with excellent temperaments. Society also expects pets to be de-sexed, with added benefits of possible discounted council registration fees.

Working line Malinois make better security dogs than family pets unless owners are very committed to providing for their enrichment needs. If you want a Malinois just as a pet, then please consider only sourcing your puppy from a show or companion bred litter, not a working litter. There are considerably less 'high drive' issues for folk to contend with that select Groenendael, Tervueren or Laekenois varieties, which applies to show/companion bred litters of Malinois too.

Showing

Choose only the best available breed type and temperament from fully health tested breeding stock for exhibition in the show ring. Adult males with full coat look super being exhibited. Females are also shown contenders, although they may not look as glamorous as the males.

Breeding

Choose only the best available genetics, temperament and breed type for foundation breeding stock. Ensure your breeding prospects are from fully health tested stock, and fully health test all your dogs before considering breeding, paying attention to hips and elbows over twelve months of age, as well as yearly eye tests. Begin your breeding stock with the best females, and select suitable sires from Australia or worldwide to complement your female's strengths and weaknesses. Only breed to better the breed, not for puppy sales.

Dog sports

Both males and females can make super competition dogs although de-sexed dogs can make for better work concentration and allow year round competing. Choose prospects only from fully health tested breeding stock with excellent temperaments.

The heritable 'smarts' of a Belgian Shepherd Dog means that it's not necessary to buy from dog 'sport titled' bloodlines, as most of the breed are naturally gifted with the ability to achieve well at obedience, herding, agility, tracking and other dog sports. Choose a healthy outgoing puppy.

Security

The Malinois variety of Belgian Shepherd Dog is considered the most sought after breed for commercial security work, alongside German Shepherd Dogs and Dutch Shepherd Dogs. Working line Malinois are often unsuitable for family companions due to their extremely high energy, which is perfect for security work and training. Show line Malinois, usually, make better family companions as they are often calmer and more placid (perhaps a little too placid for seekers of security prospects).

Other questions to consider

What age is appropriate? Puppies are bundles of fun, and oh so cute, but come with no pre-programming. All training, including toilet training, needs to be taught. Adult dogs, rescue dogs, and retired show/breeding dogs are, usually, already trained to various levels of competency.

Most are house trained, often with successful completion of beginner obedience level training. Some adult dogs might need a few rough edges polished off to fit your family's requirements perfectly, but the advantage is that they have gone through the puppy stage and should settle quicker.

Things that should be checked

Always check whether the dog has been ANKC registered. All dogs bred by registered breeders in Queensland are required by Dogs Queensland rules to be sold with ANKC papers. On offer are papers for full registration for show (which includes breeding prospects or de-sexed pets) and limited registration (endorsed not to be shown or bred). Dogs considered by breeders not suitable to be kept in the breeding gene pool can still make excellent family pets. If you are offered a puppy without papers, it may not have been bred by a registered breeder either at all or an ethical breeder that complies with Dogs Queensland rules. Beware! All pedigree puppies in Queensland should be sold with registration papers.

It is required by legislation right across Australia that all dogs and puppies sold must be microchipped before leaving the breeder. Ensure that the microchip paperwork is completed and transferred into your name so that your dog can be returned to you should it ever go missing.

Dog relatives

If possible, always arrange to view the sire, dam and any siblings and close relatives so you can assess temperament, conformity to the breed standard, and overall health and well-being of any bloodlines you are about to invest your heart (and money) into.

Choosing a Sire

Whether you intend to use a natural stud service or artificial insemination with chilled or frozen semen, it is important that you thoroughly investigate the proposed sire. Check that the pedigree and breed type is complementary to your female.

Check that the sire conforms to the breed standard and that full health test results are available such as hip scores, elbow scores and yearly eye tests. Ask for photos, videos, official show critiques, and copies of health certificates. Also make sure to ask about any progeny and possible heritable problems in the bloodlines and other progeny.

Ensure that you and the stud dog owner are both current financial members of your state canine councils and that you have a current breeders prefix. Make wise breeding decisions after plenty of research so that every litter is aiming to better the breed in every aspect.

If you have read this far into the article, you are obviously keen to know more about this breed. Thank you for choosing to consider a Belgian Shepherd Dog to be your new family member!

The Belgian Shepherd Dog Club of Qld is happy to assist with all breed related inquiries, and is also happy to put you in touch with member breeders who uphold the club's strict health testing guidelines for their breeding stock.

Finally, we strongly recommend that you join the Belgian Shepherd Dog Club of Qld Inc and through the club, make contact with other Belgian Shepherd Dog fanciers and breeders, who will be only too happy to assist and advise.

The club offers its member breeders complimentary membership to each puppy buyer for the remainder of the club's financial year. Ask your breeder to sign you up, consider it a 'try before you buy' promotion, and if you like our goals, newsletters and Fun days, you are welcome to pay the membership fee to become a fully-fledged member with full voting rights.

From then to now

Dogs Queensland Exclusive

Written by Lynda Trotter

The Belgian Shepherd Dog has come a long way as a breed since I obtained my first Groenendael in 1980. Firstly we no longer use the English Standard, as we did then. This standard contained things such as 'wary of strangers' (which people all too often translated as 'timid') as well as not having any methodology for assessing missing teeth. We now have the FCI standard which helps us to maintain breed type in keeping with the country of origin.

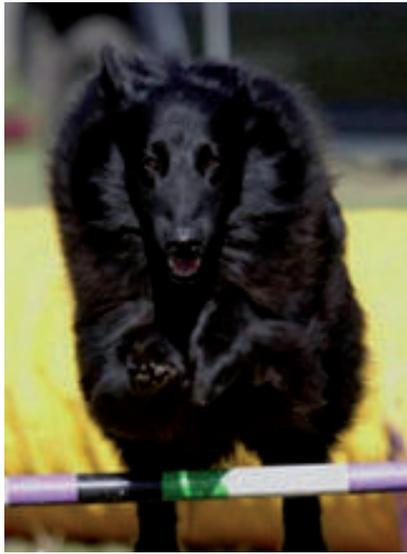

Over the years I have been what could be considered a 'fringe dweller' when it comes to performance activities in BelgiansShepherd Dogs. My main focus is breeding and exhibiting, but I have always had an interest in maintaining the ability of the breed to do what it was originally designed to do, herd and/or guard.

Whether the task was to guard and herd sheep (all varieties) guard the flaxen fields (predominantly the Laekenois) or to a smaller degree as Police Dogs (predominantly the Malinois). I have trained and trailed in both Obedience and basic Herding. I have also trained at BH level for a short time in Schutzhund and imported dogs with IPO titles.

Dogs I have owned have successfully competed at Obedience and Agility, and dogs that I have bred have achieved success in Agility, Obedience, Herding, Tracking, Dances with Dogs, Rally O, Endurance and many other and varied performance sports. I can honestly say that the temperament of the Belgian Shepherd Dog is much better today than it was when I first came into the breed.

That is not to say that there were no sound dogs back then, but there are more breeders now, more Belgian Shepherd Dogs registered and many, many more breeders and owners out there participating in various activities with their dogs. The fact that there are many more examples of the breed involved in performance activities is not only due to the fact that there are more options available to us, but also because the word is getting out about this breed.

No longer is the Belgian Shepherd Dog a 'well-kept secret', known only to a chosen few. More and more people are actively searching for Belgian Shepherd Dog litters with parents that have a proven drive and ability for their next Agility/Obedience/Dances with Dogs/ Tracking/Rally O/Delta Dog/IPO or Endurance dog. They are also highly sought after here and around the world as search and rescue dogs. We have examples as assistance dogs and also success as seeing eye dogs. As breeders, it is our role to maintain all aspects of the standard. The functional ability, temperament and conformity to type.

I am happy to say I am seeing this more and more. While much is said about the disadvantages of the internet and social media today, the most positive aspects of these tools is that we can keep abreast of what is happening overseas, who is winning, what lines are producing consistently both type and temperament and also helping us to find breeders and lines which are in keeping with our own ideology of the breed.

Ideally, breeders should be aiming to breed Belgian Shepherd Dogs that 'can do it all'. This is not beyond the realms of possibility when you look at dogs such as INT CH AUT CH HUN CH SVK Bergerac Faust IPO I AD JD GD (IMP HUN) (Groenendael) owned by Lynda Trotter and Ashley Hoffman, and the amazing Tri Ch (FS) (T) HTM Ch Belgenbeau Be Zed Arinya CD RN ADX JDX JDM GD SP (Malinois) owned by Sarah Trembath in Victoria. In Australia, the range of titles and achievements attained is astounding.

These include but are not limited to:

- Herding
- Schutzhund/IPO
- Obedience
- Agility
- Rally O
- Dancing with Dogs
- Tracking
- Delta Dogs
- Pets for Therapy
- Assistance Dogs
- Seeing Eye Dogs
- Hearing Dogs
- War Dogs
- Police Dogs
- Security Dogs
- Customs Dogs
- Corrective Service K9s

I would like to make particular mention of Mia. Mia's owner suffers from a number of debilitating health issues. As a result of her medication, she has also developed irregular seizures. She bought Mia from me as a puppy, and has personally completed all of the training required to have Mia qualify as an official licenced Assistance Dog.

The relationship between dog and owner has become so close, that Mia is also now alerting her of impending seizures, which gives her owner the ability to ensure she is somewhere safe until the seizure passes.

The future for this breed is exciting! However with popularity also comes the increasing number of dogs our clubs are seeing coming through rescue. This seems to be the case particularly with regard to the working line Malinois who have been 'discovered' in the past 10 years. The number of working line kennels increasing from two or three to fifteen plus. You also have the dogs released to the public by the RAAF. Breeders and buyers alike must put a lot of thought and consideration into whether these dogs are going to the right homes.

Belgian Shepherd Dogs are first and foremost a working dog and there for suit best an active home where the dog is part of the family. Often a Belgian Shepherd Dog that is considered 'over the top' or hyperactive in one home, goes on to become an Obedience star with a calm and biddable character in another. This is because a bored Belgian Shepherd Dog can become a destructive dog. The breed does have a natural affinity with children and will often gravitate towards them.

As a breeder, I love to see the amazing things people have achieved with their Belgian Shepherd Dogs, both in organised activities and at home. I also get immense pleasure when families who got their first dog from me years ago, have now returned for their second, and third Belgian Shepherd Dog family member. This is definitely a breed that once you have lived with one, all other breeds pale in comparison.

Belbergere Belgians Making History in Australia

Written by Sally Scott
Belbergere Belgians

Nellie and her daughter Satine were the first Belgians Shepherds (of any variety) to gain titles in herding on C Course in Australia as well as qualifying runs towards their Herding Championship Title before we retired from herding.

They were also the third (tied) dogs of any breed to gain the Advanced C Course title in Australia. To date, their record still holds.

Nellie's journey

I started dabbling with herding in early 2004 with Nellie. In August that same year, Nellie gained her Herding Instinct test. We then took a break starting back in mid 2006. By early July 2008 we had begun to take herding seriously and Nellie had passed her A Course Started title, gaining 1 x HIT with a score of 92.5 out of 100,

2 x highest scoring Belgian and 1 x RU highest scoring Belgian.

We then transitioned over to C Course, which is a diluted form of a traditional European Shepherds day tending the flock. This style of herding made so much more sense to her and she was no longer frustrated with being told to keep at a distance and she was able to move freely up and back along the flock.

In April 2009 Nellie gained her first pass for C Course Started, with a respectable score of 80.5 and a second place. She gained her final pass for started level in June, making her the first Belgian in Australia to gain a C Course title. Nellie gained her Intermediate title in July 2010 this time simultaneously with her daughter, the first to hold a C Course Intermediate title.

July 2011 saw her final pass for C Course Advanced at the age of nine and half years, again titling along with her daughter and being the first Belgians to gain the C Course Advanced Title in Australia In C Course. Nellie gained 1 x RHIT and 1 x HIT.

Nellie is also an Australian Championship achieving multi CC and BOB (Brisbane and Toowoomba Royals), Specialty, RUBOB, BOB and RUBISS winnings as well as numerous 'Excellent' gradings under International Specialist Judges.

At the grand old age of twelve and half she won Best Neuter in Specialty Show over several much younger exhibits with the comment of 'Golden Oldie'. Nellie has also gained her Obedience CD title that included several first places.

Nellie is now known as RUBISS Ch. Demoniaque Jeopardy CD HSAs HXCs, Dual HIT and is owned, trained and handled by Sally Scott of Belbergere Belgians.

Satine's journey

After dabbling in herding with Nellie, I wanted to continue with her daughter Satine.

In September 2007 Satine gained her first Herding Instinct test pass, and by July 2008 she had her first A Course Started pass. Satine gained another pass towards A Course Started before we switched to C Course where she blossomed in herding and gained a first place in her first ever C Course herding test.

Satine then went on to gain her first HIT in her first C Course Intermediate test, and another HIT on her final pass for her C Course Advanced title.

Satine went on to gain a further two RHIT's and a further qualification for the Herding Championship title before retiring from herding.

Satine only showed sporadically with several gradings of 'Excellent' under International Specialist Judges and and we are now dabbling in agility.

Satine is known as 'Demoniaque Sateen HXCs Dual HIT' and is owned, trained and handled by Sally Scott, Belbergere Belgians.

The Belgian Shepherd Dog, a family dog or a family of dogs?

Dogs Queensland Exclusive

Written by Jody Hafey

When we started looking for a new family member, we thought we should do some research.

We decided that while we were young enough, we wanted a dog we could do something with. A dog to give us a challenge, and keep us active. I also needed a hobby and thought I would have a go at showing. So we started looking on the various dog web sites (the for sale and puppy sites) and then researched the different breeds.

My husband said he remembered a dog he had known years before; it was a Belgian Shepherd Dog and that it was beautiful but when we looked it up, it wasn't what he remembered so we looked at other breeds.

After several months of interviewing breeders, meeting puppies and their parents, we kept heading back to the Belgian Shepherd Dog, but the other half wasn't quite convinced. So the search continued.

We looked at the Great Dane, German Shepherd Dog, Doberman, White Swiss Shepherd, Schnauzers, the Scottish Terrier and finally had a closer look at the Belgian Shepherd Dog.

After speaking to a few different breeders, we finally had the opportunity to visit one. We found the Belgian Shepherd Dog to be an elegant and graceful dog that appeared to be smiling at us. They had a beautiful long coat and seemed to glide across the ground with ease.

They were friendly and gentle and seemed to be genuinely happy to meet us. We had finally chosen our breed, so we waited and waited for the right puppy.

I had almost given up hope and was convinced I was never going to have a puppy so I started looking at cross breeds on rescue sites, but couldn't find that perfect puppy.

I then received an e-mail asking if I was still looking for a Belgian Shepherd Dog as a litter was due and my name was on the list. I was so excited! A few weeks later we went to visit the babies and fell in love. When we finally brought our little girl home, she was the most beautiful thing in the world. Then as she settled in, her personality started coming through. Her cheeky, funny, almost naughty character shone through.

As she grew, her intelligence and learning capacity was astounding. She became the clown of puppy pre-school and went on to deliver many laughs with her antics as she moved through the different stages of basic training.

As she grew she became more stunning every day. Her long black glossy coat was attracting strangers when we went for walks. I started showing her and have met the most amazing people, made lifelong friends and had a ball. I am now addicted to showing and look forward to any day out with friends and dogs.

This was just over a year ago and now, much to my husband's disgust, I have three Belgians in my home and they are all family members. I can't imagine my life without them, and I wouldn't change it for the world.

Grey, Sable or Sand?

Dogs Queensland Exclusive

Written by Sally Scott
Belbergere Belgians

The FCI General Committee at its meeting towards the end of July 2009, approved a synopsis of Prof. Bernard Denis's book 'Coat colours in dogs'. This summary 'Standardised Nomenclature of coat colours in dogs' is to be regarded as the official reference for the description of coat colours in dogs. All amended standards and all the new ones should comply with this standardised nomenclature (see the circular 90/2009 on the FCI website). In France, the new nomenclature is already applicable for pedigrees.

"The necessity of standardising the terminology of coat colours in dogs has been felt for a long time, explains Professor Bernard Denis. It is a fact that from one breed to another it happens that the same word designates different colours or, on the contrary, the same coat is given in very different descriptions. Furthermore, traditional nomenclature often deliberately employ imaginative terms to describe a colour rather than taking into account the precise nature of the basic coat."

The 'fawn with black overlay' is characterised by the presence of bi-pigmented hairs (fawn at the base, black at the end) interspersed with entirely black hairs. It is the colour of the Malinois and the (fawn) Tervueren.

'Overlay' alone indicates that it is black. Otherwise, it is necessary to specify the colour. For example 'brown overlay'. For the mask also, 'mask' implies 'black mask'. Otherwise, it is necessary to specify the colour. It is, therefore, necessary to state the extent of overlay (at the least: slight, moderate, heavy); however, if the precision is missing, it can be considered as a synonym for 'moderate overlay'. For the Laekenois (rough hair), the standard accepts that the overlay is expressed more discreetly such as 'with traces of black overlay'.

For the Tervueren, the standard accepts the 'grey with black overlay' and classifies the 'grey' among the faults. Because of the larger or lesser amount of charcoal on a light background (diluted fawn), we get an impression of a grey colour. Grey in genetics, is another phenomenon. Greying is a progressive change resulting in a lightening of the hair or coat as the dog gets older. The greying gene occurs on the (G)-locus which is not a gene belonging to the Belgian Shepherd Dog. A good example is the Poodle. In reality, what is it? Under the action of an allele that dilutes phaeomelanin (in this case the recessive allele 'i' from locus I - Intensity) fawn is diluted in 'sand' (term of the standardised nomenclature) but without diluting the black eumelanin (black overlay, mask, etc.). 'Grey with black overlay' becomes 'sand with black overlay'.

What then is 'sable'? It is the French word for 'sand'. It is used to indicate the shade of colour that comes only from fawn dilution. But also take into consideration that, in order to denominate all the shades of phaeomelanin colour, English-speaking geneticists often use the word 'sable'. To resume:

English speaking geneticists	FCI BSD Standard		FCI Standardised Nomenclature
	French	English	French	English
sable	fauve	fawn	fauve	fawn
	gris	grey	sable	sand

In conclusion, an update of terms used in the standard in accordance with the standardised nomenclature, and in close relationship with the terminology used in genetics, would mark a major step forward for better accuracy and understanding coat colours in dogs.

The Belgian Shepherd Dog is a Moderate Breed

Dogs Queensland Exclusive

Written by Lynda Trotter

When applying the word Moderate to the Belgian Shepherd Dog, what do we imply? It means that there is nothing exaggerated. The head is not as fine as the Collie Rough but also not as strong as in the German Shepherd Dog. The stop is moderate but defined. The Belgian Shepherd Dog is neither a large breed nor a small breed. The movement is not short coupled, nor is the reach and drive that of the German Shepherd Dog. The various parts of the breed are harmoniously proportioned. The body is well balanced with unbroken outline when looking at the silhouette.

The angulation of the Belgian Shepherd Dog is 'moderate'. Our breed does not aspire to the 90° angulations required of the German Shepherd Dog, rather somewhere between 105° to 110°.

The movement of the Belgian Shepherd Dog should be 'effortless', 'a moderately fast trot, exhibiting good reach and drive'. Our breed should not display the extreme reach and drive of the German Shepherd Dog. There is nothing wasteful about the movement of the Belgian Shepherd Dog. On extension, the front paw should reach only to the nose, with the head held slightly down and forward on the move. The hind leg should extend behind by the same distance. This will only happen if the dog is correctly angulated front and rear. On the move, the line from the tip of the ear to the tip of the tail should be fluent and smooth, with no excessive change of angle. When judging or examining a Belgian Shepherd Dog, all parts should be harmonious to each other.

Even the word 'chiselled' in reference to the head, infers smooth lines without any excess. The ears should be moderate to small. The neck should have sufficient length to support the overall impression of elegance of the breed. The skull and muzzle should be on parallel planes when viewed from the side. In proportion to the German Shepherd Dog, the Belgian Shepherd Dog is a lighter build while still displaying a robust elegance specific to this breed.

Even when exhibiting the Belgian Shepherd Dog, there is nothing extreme in its presentation. Stacked all four square in a natural stance, and moved at a moderate pace which displays the breeds ability to work for long periods. The top line should remain level on the move, without displaying any weakness of back and the movement should be smooth and without exaggeration of any part of the whole.

So, as they say, 'everything in moderation'.

Coat Colour Inheritance Chart

Dogs Queensland Exclusive

Written by Lynda Trotter

The figures below are based on the probable percentages from a litter of four puppies in each possible mating. I do not claim to be an expert on the genetics of coat colour inheritance in the Belgian Shepherd Dog (far from it). I did however, want to set out a simplistic chart for those just learning to follow the topic. There are more combinations than those listed, but these will help give an overview of the genetics involved.

Please note that 'I locus' equates to 'I' from Intense. Recent studies have found that the C (for Chinchilla) series is not responsible for the dilution of canine coat colour. It is replaced by the 'I locus' that only affects the intensity of the pheomelanin pigment. This allele is not actually known, but is an hypothesis. For this locus, there are two alleles:

- 'Allele i' recessively decreases the pheomelanin pigment intensity. Co-dominant, so ii dogs are paler than li dogs. By the Belgian Shepherd, this is the case for the Tervueren sand (incorrectly called 'grey' – black overlay on a pale base coat gives the illusion of 'grey')
- 'Allele l' is fawn relative and not diminution of intensity
